8 Greek Communist Spies Given Death Sentence, 4 Life Terms

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—A court martial today sentenced to death eight members of a 29-member spy ring. Four others were sentenced to life imprisonment. The prosecution had asked the death sentence for 12. The military tribunal's verdict finished one of the most sensational espionage cases ever tried in Greek courts.

2 Injured In Road Mishaps

House Trailer Hits Bridge Near Lisbon

Two men were injured in two of the four district highway mishaps investigated by state highway patrolmen and deputy sheriffs Friday.

A car driven by Raymond Richardson, 24, of Lansing, Mich., and towing a house trailer went out of control and crashed into a bridge at 2:55 p.m. on Route 30, two miles west of Lisbon.

Richardson sustained lacerations of the head and hands and a dislocated left wrist. He was brought to Salem City Hospital where his condition is reported fairly good today.

At 6:15 p.m. a car driven north on the Winona North-South Rd. by Roland W. Coppock, 74, of Winona was struck by a northbound auto operated by Eugene Hathorne, 23, of Salem when Coppock attempted to make a left turn as Hathorne was passing.

Coppock was brought to Salem City Hospital and treated for lacerations and abrasions of the head and knees and shock.

Cars driven by Ermo Bartolotti, 21, of Detroit, and Joseph Sespos, 31, of East Liverpool collided at 1:45 p.m. on Route 45, four miles south of Salem, causing minor damages to the autos.

A two-door sedan driven by Dale A. Wirt, 35, Canton salesman, and a Hathaway Bakery truck operated by John E. Shoff, 54, of Youngstown, were damaged extensively about 10:15 a.m. Friday two miles south on Route 164. Neither driver was hurt.

Wirt told Deputy Sheriff Richard Judge the truck made a left turn without signal as he attempted to pass it from behind. Both vehicles had to be towed in.

Couple Files Suit In Hill Accident

A New Waterford couple is suing a Leetonia man for $100,000, claiming his negligence caused a traffic accident in which they were injured.

Glenn and Mabel Lazear state that Domenico Salvo cut in too sharply while passing their car March 20, 1950, at the foot of Route 14 Millville Hill, near Salem, and that they plunged over a bank and into a creek.

Each asks $50,000 for alleged injuries. Their petitions were filed Friday in Common Pleas Court.

Korean Peace Hopes Dimmed

Chinese Insist On Russia As Neutral

MUNSAU, Korea (AP)—Communist truce negotiators said today they would "eternally reject" efforts to keep Russia off a neutral supervisory commission, and a U.N. delegate acknowledged that there seems to be "no prospect" of an early Korean armistice.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby told the Reds it was apparent there would be no early truce and called for an immediate exchange of all sick and wounded prisoners.

The Communists promptly rejected Libby's request and accused the U.N. allies of "deliberately serving notice" that they planned to delay the armistice negotiations.

Meanwhile, on the battlefield UN tanks rumbled into action for the second straight day.

A tank-infantry raiding unit, backed up by intense artillery fire, hammered Red targets south of Pyongyang on the central front for more than an hour at dawn.

Chinese artillery and mortar fire damaged two of the tanks. The tanks were pulled back to Allied lines.

That brought to 12 the number of Allied tanks destroyed or damaged Friday and Saturday.

Allied fighter bombers balanced off part of this loss Saturday afternoon. The Mustangs and Marine Corsairs caught a camouflaged Red tank convoy north of Pyongyang and destroyed three and badly damaged six.

2 Americans Hurt In Hong Kong Riots

HONG KONG (AP)—Two American government officials were among a dozen persons injured today as Communist-led riots erupted in Hong Kong's teeming Kowloon section.

U. S. Vice Consul Robert Ballantyne, Tulsa, Okla., and Jack Watts Leach, Oklahoma City, U. S. Information Service officer, were stoned by rioters as they strolled through Kowloon.

Ballantyne was hit in the forehead and one stitch was required to close the cut. Leach was less seriously hurt. The rioters grabbed cameras both men were carrying.

The mob dragged the unidentified driver of a British army truck out of the cab then set fire to the vehicle. Two other Britons were given first aid treatment at Kowloon hospital.

Several other foreigners were attacked, but not seriously hurt. The rioting followed a brief parade by an officially estimated 4,500 persons who had gathered at Kowloon station to greet a Chinese Communist "comfort mission."

The demonstrators began rioting after government officials refused the Red delegation permission to enter this British crown colony.

Tornado Kills Two And Injures 150 In Fayetteville, Tenn.

FAYETTEVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Red Cross workers, highway patrolmen and National Guardsmen probed wrecked home and businesses and poked among twisted trees and a snarl of power lines today looking for more possible victims of yesterday's savage tornado.

Burglars Steal $2.5 Million In Safe Contents

Reno Millionaire's Home Robbed While Dog Gnaws Bone

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Burglars entered the home of a millionaire investment broker yesterday and made off with a safe containing some $2,500,000 in cash, jewelry and negotiable securities. They left behind another billion in securities packed in a suitcase, detectives reported.

The theft was discovered by the broker, L. V. Redfield, and police when he returned home from an afternoon luncheon. His watchdog, described as vicious by friends, was in a bedroom happily munching a hambone taken from the refrigerator.

Redfield and Police Chief L. R. Greenon both refused to estimate the loss, but a report released by District Attorney Jack Streeter showed these figures:

Currency: $300,000.
Jewelry: Between $50,000 and $100,000.

Negotiable securities: Between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000.

Police Seek Truck

Miffed about this estimate, Redfield said: "The amount should not have been given out because it will only arouse curiosity."

Police are seeking a dark green pickup truck believed to have been used to haul away the 500-pound safe.

Redfield and his wife have lived in the three-story 15-room house without servants the past seven years. Redfield, 54, moved to Reno 18 years ago from Los Angeles where he made a fortune dealing in oil stocks. He was described by a Reno business associate, who refused to be identified, as "the shrewdest man in the financial world today."

He said Redfield owned vast amounts of real estate and commented "this (the burglary) won't hurt Redfield."

Gives Bills' Numbers

The securities were endorsed by Redfield and police asked that none be accepted by banks or business houses in nearby states.

Redfield furnished police with serial numbers of bills, for one hundred twenty $1,000 bills; six $500 bills, and more than two hundred $100 bills.

His home is on a bluff in a fashionable residential district. The only access by auto is up a side driveway, relatively obscured from the street by neighbors.

Police said the safe was hidden by clothing and suitcases in a bedroom closet. There were skid marks on the kitchen floor, indicating the burglars had shoved it to their waiting car or truck.

The safe was taken while Redfield and his wife were downtown for luncheon appointments.

Realty Tax Payments Amount To $1,251,791

Real estate tax collection for the first half of 1951 totals $1,251,791, County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge said today. Last Saturday was the deadline for payment without a 10-per-cent penalty.

The 1951 duplicate shows the county's real estate valuation at $103,469,710. Total charge for the year is $2,391,920.

The late afternoon ripper left at least two dead in this south central Tennessee town. The Tennessee Highway Patrol estimated 150 were hurt or burned in the subsequent rash of fires.

As heavy clouds scudded low overhead in the gray dawn, patrol chief W. T. Shelton said, "I don't see how this sort of a blow could strike and kill only two people."

Toll May Be Higher

"There's no telling how high the toll would have been had it hit early in the morning when the people were asleep."

The emergency workers headed out for their first light-of-day survey of the grim scene.

Shelton said he had heard estimates of damage ranging up to four million dollars, but added it was impossible to gauge accurately the extent of destruction. The business section was raked, but not hit squarely by the tornado. Shelton said 100 houses were destroyed or damaged.

The twister skipped over other areas in middle Tennessee and northeast Alabama with less intensity.

The high winds smashed into the center of Fayetteville (Pop. 6,000) at 4:30 p.m. (CST), ripping buildings apart, tearing up trees, and knocking out communications and power lines.

Charlie Vance, 56, a milk company worker, said he heard a roar and saw the "gray funnel" of the twister. Limbs of trees, parts of buildings and other debris swirled "as high as 500 feet in the air," Vance said.

Victims' Homes Destroyed

The dead were identified as Willard McCown, 35, grocery clerk; and Mrs. Eugene McGee, 55, a housewife. Both perished when their homes were demolished by the winds.

The tornado dispelled shirt-sleeve temperatures and strong winds still howled over the city as thermometers neared freezing early today.

The blast hit first in the downtown area and swept away the Episcopal Church. Five other churches were badly damaged, as was the Lincoln County courthouse. The winds then boiled into residential areas. A Negro section was hard hit.

The tornado struck Donelson Hospital for Negroes, tearing away the kitchen and dining room and scattering heavy equipment about the yard.

The wrecked hospital was left without heat and light as an emergency generator failed. Dr. L. M. Donaldson, superintendent, said 25 to 30 persons were injured there.

The tornado also raked the Lincoln Memorial Hospital, sweeping the roof from the maternity ward. Mrs. Kenneth O. Strum, in labor when the roof was whipped from that section of the building, gave birth to a boy shortly afterwards as attendants worked by lights from an emergency generator.

Police Investigate Two Traffic Mishaps

Cpl. John F. Ray, 22, of 1015 N. Lincoln Ave. reported to police that his car struck a city light pole and broke the globe at 1:45 a. m. today as he was attempting to park his car on E. State St.

At 1:35 a. m. today a car driven by Vincent E. DeMichele of 1098 E. Ninth St. skidded at the intersection of N. Lincoln Ave. and Third St. and crashed into a tree, causing slight damage to the car.

Administration Proposes To Fight Foreign Aid Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Truman Administration reportedly has decided to fight any cut in its proposed $7,900,000,000 new foreign aid program.

Secretary of State Acheson told a nation-wide radio and television audience last night this program "deserves our utmost support" and is "vital" to the success of Western European defense plans.

Other officials, following up the Acheson appeal, said the program had been carefully worked out by the State and Defense Departments and the Mutual Security Administration, and the new money requested is considered essential to enable other nations to carry out defense plans.

President Truman will lay detailed figures for both military and economic foreign aid before Congress in the week of March 6. Hearings will begin March 11.

There has been some talk at the capitol of voting only funds for military aid.

Acheson's speech last night was a report to the Nation on what was accomplished on his diplomatic mission to London and Lisbon where he joined with other western foreign ministers in conferences designed to build up North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) forces in Europe.

Acheson said the meetings of the British, French, German and American ministers at London and a session of the 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Council at Lisbon accomplished much.

But he said a great deal is yet to be done and many problems must be solved before the decisions made are translated into troops, uniforms, trained, and ready for action.

"The days of danger are still with us," Acheson said.

He said the conferences resulted in five major accomplishments consisting of agreements on:

1. The forces "to be made available to Gen. Eisenhower's NATO command during this year (a goal of 50 divisions)."

2. The bases and other facilities to be set up for these forces.

3. The creation of a European army by six nations, the device by which German rearmament is to be controlled in such a way as to try to prevent a revival of German militarism.

4. The restoration of West Germany "to a place of equality and responsibility in the European community," specifically meaning the plans for signing a peace contract between the western powers and West Germany.

5. Reorganization of the North Atlantic Treaty machinery, including establishment of a headquarters at Paris.

March Slides In On 4-Inch Snowfall Here

March roared in like the proverbial lion before daylight today bringing snow and cold.

If tradition holds true, the month is destined to come to a close with milder weather.

At least four inches of snow fell overnight in Salem, part of a snowstorm which spread across Pennsylvania. Snow shovels, which had been gathering rust of late, were sharpened against sidewalk this morning by industrious citizens.

Streets and highways were reported slippery, but no serious traffic accidents were reported.

The weather prediction is for fair and colder tonight and Sunday.

The snowstorm covered Pennsylvania and New York. Roads were reported in hazardous condition. Trains and buses in the east were delayed and planes grounded.

The storm was accompanied by lightning and thunder in Pittsburgh.

Maryland was blanketed by three to eight inches of snow.

Wind-whipped snow covered New Jersey. The fall there was three to four inches deep.

New York City also was pelted by snow.

Aly Maher Pasha Quits On Eve Of British Talks

His Son Says Father Complained About Deals Behind Back

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—A reliable source said tonight Ahmed Naguib Al Hilaly Pasha, 60-year-old Independent, has been appointed Egypt's prime minister, succeeding Aly Maher Pasha, who resigned.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Prime Minister Aly Maher Pasha resigned unexpectedly today on the eve of talks he had confidently predicted would lead to settlement of Egypt's bitter feud with Britain. He stalked grim-faced from an hour-long emergency cabinet session and told reporters he had quit. He made no other statement.

Political sources said Maher became involved in a dispute with the palace, which installed his independent government Jan. 27 following bloody anti-British torch riots in Cairo.

It was reported Ahmed Naguib Hilaly Pasha, also an Independent and one of Egypt's elder statesmen, may be asked to form a new government. He told reporters he had heard nothing about it.

Maher Pasha's son, Mohammed Aly Maher Jasha, said the 69-year-old Independent leader resigned because of "inability to work due to mysterious currents behind his back." King Farouk installed Maher Pasha after ousting the strongly nationalist government of Wafdist party leader Mustapha El Nahas Pasha.

Was To Have Talk

The prime minister was to have met this morning with British Ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson on reopened discussions aimed at settling the dispute between the two countries over the Suez Canal Zone and the Sudan. Those talks were postponed only a short time before Maher resigned, and the announced reason was Sir Ralph had become ill with a "chill."

Those talks also were aimed at trying to reach some agreement which eventually would bring Egypt into a western-backed Middle East Defense program. Egypt's entry into such a setup hinged on her demands that British troops first be withdrawn from the Suez Canal Zone and that the Sudan be placed under King Farouk's full sovereignty.

Maher Pasha, although standing on Egypt's Nationalist demands, "was considered more moderate than his Wafdist predecessor. He was said to have

Blast Damage Case Won By Plaintiff

Mrs. Vivian Raley Boyd of Signal was awarded a $2,500 verdict Friday afternoon by a Common Pleas jury at Lisbon, ending her week-long damage suite against the Burnrite Coal Co. of New Waterford.

A teacher at Rogers School, Mrs. Boyd claimed the firm's blasting during 1948-49 cracked her $14,000 home. She sued for $7,500 but reduced the claim to $3,815 when trial started.

Counsel for Mike Mercure, Burnrite's president, said they would ask for a new trial.

The defense claimed the blasts were not severe enough to hurt the house and retained an explosion expert to measure test firings on a seismograph. Graphs of the "quakes" were exhibits.

The jury deliberated an hour and three quarters.

A Hymn Is Born
BY CLINT BONNER

God Moves In A Mysterious Way

A great poet's last hymn

Five hundred years ago a German monk sat in a monastery on the Rhine and wrote a book. The name of the monk was Thomas Kempis . . . the book "Imitation of Christ." "The Imitation" has gone through 2,000 editions and has been called "The most influential book that ever came from the hand of man, the Scriptures having come from the hand of God."

Nearly three centuries after Monk Kempis died an infidel sea captain accidentally came across a copy of "The Imitation" on his ship. For want of something to do on a long voyage in 1748, the slave-ship skipper thumbed casually through the pages. Becoming curious, he seriously read the monk's philosophy.

No sooner had Capt. John Newton finished reading "The Imitation of Christ" than his ship ran into a storm that all but sent it to the bottom. Manning the pumps himself, Newton stood waist-deep in water and, unable to swim, he started praying to the Christ he had been reading about. The storm subsided and so did the captain's praying. But Capt. Newton no sooner unloaded his cargo than a siege of fever threw him down and held him at death's door for days. When the skipper got on his feet he had not only changed his thinking but also his career.

God moves in a mysterious way,
His wonders to perform;
He plants His footsteps in the sea,
And rides upon the storm.

Ye fearful saints, fresh courage take;
The clouds ye so much dread
Are big with mercy, and shall break
With blessing on your head.

Distributed by Illustrated Features Syndicate, Birmingham, Ala.

Ordained at the age of 39, the Rev. John Newton was sent to a church at the town of Olney. Into Olney came mentally sick little Poet William Cowper who had been driven to spells of insanity by illusions of being forever doomed and that his soul was beyond redemption. Newton recognized the genius in Cowper; and reasoned that the poet could have no better treatment than could be afforded by a home and plenty of work.

John Newton was not a poet . . . at least he had not yet turned poet. But to help Cowper, the one-time infidel sea captain suggested that the two write a book of hymns together. Of the famous "Olney Hymns" former slave-ship Capt. John Newton wrote 281. Among his contributions are "Amazing Grace," "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken" and "How Sweet the Name of Jesus Sounds."

Incidentally, the year Newton died at the age of 82, while pastor of London's great Saint Mary Woolnoth Church, a convert of his named William Wilberforce put a bill through Parliament that forever outlawed slave traffic in the British domain.

Of little Poet William Cowper's 67 numbers in the Olney Collection, there are the immortal "There is a Fountain Filled with Blood" . . . "O, for a Closer Walk with God" and the last hymn the little poet ever wrote, which sums up the whole story:

Judge not the Lord by feeble sense,
But trust Him for His grace;
Behind a frowning Providence
He hides a smiling face.

His purposes will ripen fast,
Unfolding every hour;
The bud may have a bitter taste,
But sweet will be the flower.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How To Find Real Security

THE newspapers these days are filled with discussions of security. It seems that we think about nothing but security: social security, international security, security checks, etc.

I am reminded of a story my friend, Clarence W. Hall of the Christian Herald, wrote during the war. Dr. Hall spent some time on Okinawa and visited a little town called Shimabake, a village of about a thousand Okinawans.

Thirty years before, he was told, an American missionary had touched at these shores on his way to Japan. He was there only a very short time, but in that time he made two converts. And when he left, he gave them an inexpensive copy of the Bible.

One of the converts was named Shosei Kina; the other was his brother, Mojon. After the missionary left, they had no contact with any other Christian person or group. But they had their copy of the Bible and gradually, painfully, they picked out its meanings and its messages.

THESE TWO brothers became fascinating and beautiful characters. In the Bible, they found not only a pattern for their own lives, but also sound precepts on which to base a society. Shosei Kina became head man of that small village; Mojon became the teacher. They built their society on what they found in the Bible. The people became gentle, cultured, clean, educated, prosperous. This was a Christian democracy in its purest form and, when the Japanese occupation forces moved in to fortify the island during the war, they could neither understand nor shake it.

And then, thirty years after that lone missionary, the tides of war brought the American army to Okinawa. Little Shimabake was directly in the path of battle and took some severe shelling. But when our advance patrols reached the outskirts of the village, they were met by two little old men, who bowed and begged to speak.

An interpreter explained what the old men were saying: "Welcome, Christian brothers." They had heard that the Americans had invaded their island and and they remembered that their missionary had come from America. So, although these Americans had an approach a bit different from that of the missionary, they were overjoyed to see them. Flabbergasted by this unusual approach, the GI's sent for the chaplain.

THE CHAPLAIN came and with him came other officers. They toured the village and were astounded at what they saw—the spotlessly clean homes and paths; the poise and gentility of the villagers; the high level of health and happiness, intelligence and prosperity in Shimabake shone like a diamond in a dunghill.

Shosei Kina and his brother, Mojon, observed the Americans' amazement and took it for disappointment. They bowed humbly and said: "We're sorry if we seem a backward people. We have, honored sirs, tried our best to follow the Bible and live in Jesus. Perhaps, if you will show us how . . ."

Show them? A tough old Army sergeant was deeply moved. Walking through the town with the chaplain and Dr. Hall, he remarked: "Chaplain, I don't get it. They tell me all this came out of the Bible; from a couple of old guys trying to live like Jesus. Maybe we're using the wrong method for trying to make the world free."

There is no lasting security in a gun; someone can always make a bigger gun. If we have a bomb, so perhaps has someone else. But, if we weave spiritual faith into the warp and woof of our life and into the life of the world, we will have real security as long as we live.

Believes MIGs Top U.S. Jets In War

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The Russian-built MIG-15 fighter plane "can fly at higher altitudes and maneuver better" than U.S. jet planes now in combat in Korea, according to a high-ranking Air Force officer.

Brig. Gen. A. Robert Ginsburgh, special assistant to the Secretary of Defense, speaking here last night, added:

"But our jets dive better, we have better pilots, our jet plane machine-gun fire is superior to the MIG's cannon in rate of fire. Thus, the aerial combat score is the answer."

"To date, we have knocked down 225 MIG-15s. We have lost 23 of our jet fighters. This is today's actual air-to-air combat figure. It's about a 10 to 1 ratio," he said.

In respect to total aircraft lost in the Korean fighting, Gen. Ginsburgh said that "400 planes of ours have been knocked off... 350 of theirs have been knocked off."

"The reason is," he said, "we're actively engaged in supporting our ground troops. The Communists are not." He added that the Red anti-aircraft "has improved immensely."

Wife Slayer Dies In Electric Chair

COLUMBUS (AP) — George Tiller, who slashed his wife's throat the night of Sept. 5, 1950, died last night in the electric chair at Ohio Penitentiary.

The 44-year-old Cincinnati Negro was weak and ravaged by an illness he contracted before entering the penitentiary.

He was strapped in the electric chair at 7:51 p.m. Haltingly, he tried to repeat the Lord's Prayer after the Rev. K. E. Wall, Protestant chaplain of the penitentiary.

The current sizzled on Tiller's body strained briefly at the heavy straps. He was pronounced dead four minutes later, at 7:55 p.m.

Tiller was convicted of first-degree murder Feb. 28, 1951, in the death of his wife, Alberta, 35. Appeals through the Ohio Supreme Court delayed his execution from Sept. 10, 1951, to Jan. 18, 1952. Gov. Frank J. Lausche then set the date back until last night to study the case. He refused to grant clemency.

Associated Phone Co. Rates Increased

Thirty-three Ohio Associated Telephone Co. exchanges in the New Philadelphia area are among 134 exchanges throughout the state granted local service rate increases by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. The announcement was made by C. E. Williams of Marion, company president.

E. M. Owens, division manager, said the adjusted rates will become effective on the first date of the next regular billing period. Granted as Emergency

The telephone company filed its original application June 28, 1951. Because a lengthy delay would be necessary before the application could be processed by the commission, the company filed an application, for interim rate adjustments, as an emergency, Nov. 5, 1951, pending hearing on its original application.

The order covers the emergency application only, Mr. Williams said.

The rates, exclusive of federal tax, approved for the various grades of local service in the district include:

Drivers Able To Buy License Receipts

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio motorists today were able to buy their 1952 auto license receipts — this year a windshield sticker in place of metal plates. The change, for this year only, is to save steel.

Motorists will have until April 1 to buy the stickers, which must be affixed to the lower right-hand corner of the front windshield. The 1951 registration card and the certificate of title (ownership) must be shown to deputy registrars before obtaining a sticker.

Owners of passenger autos will pay the regular $10 fee, plus a registrar's fee. Motorists with special reserve license numbers will get their stickers from deputy registrars. They will not have to pay an extra $1 this year.

Your present license plates will have to do until April 1, 1953. But the State Registrar of Motor Vehicles says if they are badly banged up, they may be touched up with blue and white paint of reasonably the same color as the original.

Erie County Feels Bingo Crackdown

SANDUSKY (AP) — The crackdown on diehard bingo operators spread to Erie County today from neighboring Lorain County. However, it still was possible to find a game in Sandusky.

Erie County Sheriff Alton Young yesterday banned bingo in the areas under his jurisdiction. But while the city of Sandusky closed one game, Mayor Rudolph Knight said he did not plan a general ban.

The mayor said Sandusky clubs and church groups were playing bingo, but that he had no complaints about them. Sheriff Young ordered the Disabled American Veterans to stop all bingo games.

Taft Urges Fewer Government Bureaus

CHICAGO (AP) — Senator Taft, who seeks the Republican presidential nomination, Friday called for the election of a president "who believes in less government instead of more government."

The Ohioan came to Illinois for a one-day flying tour. He is competing in the April 8 Illinois presidential preference primary against Harold E. Stassen. He spoke before members of his college fraternity, Psi Upsilon, at a breakfast at the University Club in Chicago.

He said Congress is not accomplishing much these days, and added:

"In a way, the whole domestic question is being left to the people to decide."

Taft said there is a trend toward expansion of many government bureaus, and added:

"We need a man to reverse this trend."

Senator Taft also commented on a move to hold presidential primary elections in all the states.

He said he thought a nationwide primary would be "unjust" for the candidates and expensive, too. He said he didn't think a senator or governor could compete in such a pre-convention campaign without stepping out of his post for a year. He figured such a primary would cost two to five million dollars.

Gen. Meyers Released From Federal Prison

The Salem race is scheduled June 22 on the Damascus Rd., Blackburn Hill. It is open to boys within a 50-mile radius between ages 11 to 15.

Congress Took Money, Now Getting Shirts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Scudder (R-Calif.) appears to be in for a deluge of shirts. But he suspects they'll be old ones, and so he isn't too excited about it.

A shirts-for-congressmen campaign was started yesterday in Scudder's district. Secretary-Treasurer Don W. McColly of the California State Farm Bureau told an audience in Marysville, Calif.:

"To my congressman, I say: 'You are taking now (in taxes) almost everything but my shirt. So you might as well have that, too.'"

McColly yanked off his shirt. So did eight others.

Later, they said their goal was a million shirts for congressmen.

Canada Wants A Waterway

IN THE SENATE foreign relations committee hearings on the St. Lawrence Waterway, beginning this week, no one will speak for Canada. Someone should speak.

Canada wants a waterway development. There is no important opposition to the proposition among Canadians. They could build it and operate it on a rational basis.

Only part of the American people want the St. Lawrence opened to ocean vessels larger than the small ships which now can enter the Great Lakes. The United States never has been interested in opening the Great Lakes to ocean shipping. Canada already has built everything necessary, except the last connecting link in a waterway development.

Under Canadian ownership, the United States would have free access to the St. Lawrence waterway. Under Canadian sponsorship, the bitter-end opposition of eastern and gulf coast seaports would be meaningless.

While senators are listening to arguments for and against United States participation in the St. Lawrence proposal, they might be thinking about the argument for letting Canada tackle it alone. That would be the surest way of getting results.

No Neutrals

WEIRDEST of all the poppycock being mouthed at Pannunjom is the argument over "neutral" governments to take charge of an armistice.

There are no neutrals. There have been no neutrals for hundreds of years. But until worldwide conspiracy became a tool of the Communists, governments could still pretend they had no preference in issues between other governments.

Pretense is impossible now. Even the Irish and the Swiss, who played both sides against the middle in two world wars, must take sides in the issue over whether or not the Kremlin should try to overthrow their government at will.

The tragedy of the poppycock about neutrality at Pannunjom is that the Kremlin is being permitted to make an issue of something which is beyond argument. The Kremlin respects the sovereignty of no government on earth; therefore, it could not possibly concede that any government on earth had any right of neutrality worth respecting.

Truck Loads

THE OHIO-PENNSYLVANIA bickering match over what should be done with heavy trucks hurtling to a dead-end on the Pennsylvania turnpike is futile.

The fact is that both states are in the same mess—Pennsylvania because its temporary roads from the end of the turnpike to the Ohio border cracked up, Ohio because its secondary roads from there on west couldn't stand the pounding either.

Since Ohio's turnpike cannot be built for years to come, there is going to be a problem for years to come.

Roads for trucks are enormously costly, hence the toll-road idea which makes it possible to recover most of the cost from the heaviest users of the roads. But toll roads are not a solution; they merely ease the problem.

The solution to the problem might be that someday truck users would build their own superhighways to their own specifications and recover part of the cost by collecting tolls from drivers of ordinary vehicles.

This would entail giving the collectivized trucking industry the right of eminent domain. But it would be a more realistic approach to the highway transportation problem than the approach which has dead-ended the Pennsylvania turnpike's new western extension.

New Figures, Old Facts

LIKE THE FAMOUS gilly-galoo bird that flies backward so it can see where it has been, the statisticians who compile indexes are always peering into the past.

Their latest triumph, which they claim is going to be the last word in statistics of its kind, is a new wholesale price index based on prices for 1947, 1948 and 1949. Since the index the new one replaces was based on 1926, it has the immediate advantage of bringing the wholesale price index from approximately 175 per cent down to less than 115 per cent, which looks less alarming.

The new index, like the old one, is prepared each week. Billions of dollars' worth of important money transactions are geared to its percentages. Contract payments move up and down like escalator clauses in wage contracts at its statistical command.

It is even more important than the retail price index, to which the escalator clauses are geared. Whatever may happen henceforth to prices, be it better or worse, everything will be statistically airtight. In terms of what happened last week, last month and last year.

'Covering Up'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Censorship Move Hurts Administration

WASHINGTON

FEW things are more damaging to a party in power than an attempt at "cover-up" of wrongdoing. Throughout history the wisest strategy for such a party, when attacked, has been to give whole-hearted support to any official investigation.

But the Truman administration seems to be blundering on this point and, rightly or wrongly, giving the impression that it has something to hide. Thus the palpable efforts to bring to an end the house committee's inquiry on the tax scandals is causing considerable resentment, as is also the very evident effort to prevent the broadcasting and televising of all hearings held by committees of the House of Representatives.

It has been disclosed that in the presence of President Truman the ban on television and radio issued by Speaker Rayburn was discussed but Mr. Truman made no effort to bring about a change in the ruling. The President, whose appointees and subordinate officials are under attack, would naturally have an interest in seeing that the public was widely informed about governmental proceedings. He did not urge the speaker to use his position in the house to have the rules changed. He doesn't hesitate to speak out on other "civil rights."

IT IS NOT surprising that the house committee handling tax scandals is in the throes of a controversy over whether to continue its hearings. Democrats favorable to the administration fear the damaging effect that continued hearings may have on the political prospects of their party. Other Democrats, with a broad-gauged viewpoint, want the hearings to go on. They believe, as do the Republicans, that it is better to get all the facts before the people and identify the guilty rather than to let the public suspect that there are many more who are hiding behind administration protection.

Candor with the public is essential if distrust and suspicion are to be erased. It so happens that Democrats like Senator Keafauer of Tennessee, Senator Hoey of North Carolina, Senator McCarran of Nevada and Senator Fulbright of Arkansas have been leaders in recent congressional investigations. Some party spokesmen have emphasized this to show that the Democrats were cleaning their own house, letting the chips fall where they may.

THE EVENTS of the last few days, however, suggest that the Democratic administration, alarmed by the series of exposures and fearful of more of them in the campaign months to come, is now making an effort to keep the tax scandals out of the headlines. Undoubtedly this will lead to public accusations on the floor of the senate and the house and a further spreading of accusations.

It is significant that Senator Williams of Delaware, Republican, for example, is putting out certain evidence in periodic speeches before the senate. More of that kind of tactics can be expected if the house committee's hearings on irregularities in the tax bureau are curtailed or terminated.

If it had not been for the coincident stopping of the radio broadcasting and the televising of the hearings of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the situation might not have been so fully dramatized to the public. The voters in Michigan, for example, where some Communist activity has been detected, will wonder why suddenly even radio broadcasts—previously permitted—are now banned. It will be argued that the administration is afraid to have extensive coverage of the hearings. Newspapers cannot possibly print every day the same number of words that can be reported in a couple hours of broadcasting. There is also a certain dramatic intimacy which the listener or viewer enjoys in connection with radio or television. Unquestionably the administration is afraid of the consequences of widespread publicity.

THIS IS AN ISSUE the people generally can understand, and no bigger political blunder has been made by the administration than to reveal that the subject came up at a White House conference attended by the speaker of the house and yet no move was made to open up the channels of news to the public. An administration which has issued a gag order on its own officials unprecedented in severity—an edict which has been challenged by the press of the nation—can hardly expect its statements in the campaign to gain credence. Instead, the charges of the opposition will get wider publicity than might otherwise have been the case.

Whistleball

By TRUMAN TWILL

BEFORE basketball players call quits for another season, here is a fond farewell to our favorite blood-pressure boosters, the referees.

We have nothing against these gentlemen personally. We do not even know a referee as a nodding acquaintance. All of them are doing the best they can with a set of rules which needs overhauling.

Their efforts to enforce the rules as they understand them are making them the most maligned functionaries of U.S. sports. Compared with what people say about basketball referees, the things they say about baseball umpires are good-natured ribbing.

The trouble is that millions of Americans who think basketball is tops as a spectator sport and pay to go see their favorite teams perform, are being forced to watch, instead, the performances of two men with whistles.

Since these performances interrupt the basketball game every few seconds, it becomes quickly evident to the spectators that something has gone wrong. They paid to see 10 athletes play basketball and are being forced to watch two other guys play whistleball. And the players, themselves, admit they are helpless, to say nothing of their coaches.

When the consequences of this game of whistleball which has somehow got involved in the basketball game is to make the latter a series of fits and starts, with the referees frequently determining the final outcome, according to which way they happen to be looking and feeling when the action in the basketball game speeds up, the arrangement grows deeply irritating.

While it is the whistleballers' prerogative to make the basketball players leave the game if they have not played according to the referees' variable interpretations of the rules, it is not the basketballers' right to ask the referees to do likewise—a point of view which would be widely shared by the spectators.

The spectators are divided into three groups of opinion about referees.

The first group objects to them because they are tooting their whistles too often at the expense of one team, the second group because they are tooting it too often at the expense of the other team, and the third group—a smaller one—contends there is too much whistle-tooting, period.

We belong to the third group. Speaking as a spectator only, we contend at the close of another season of basketball that something has gone sour in a game whose outcome can be determined by the fact that best players may be whistled off the floor for committing "fouls" unintentionally.

Either the allowable number of these "fouls" should be increased, or the foul-calling should be decreased. And with that off our chest, we can practice up for a forthcoming season of arguing with baseball umpires. Ya blind robbers!

Hard water is that which has in it such materials as the bicarbonates and sulphates of calcium and magnesium. Though hard water is not injurious to health, it wastes soap, some of which reacts to form insoluble compounds of calcium and magnesium around the bathtub.

Now That He's Had a Chance to Look Into It

Inconsistencies of Racial Equality

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE most serious psychological problem that faces our diplomats in Asia, Central and South America, Africa and the islands that are scattered in the seven seas is the assumption that Americans dislike human beings who are not "white." It is perhaps a problem without solution; surely no one has found an answer to it which is either practical or satisfactory.

The instance of the suburbanites in Southwood tract, California, rejecting a Chinese family as a neighbor may seem a local matter of no importance except to the parties concerned. Yet, I am certain that 10 years from now, the Sing Sheng case will appear and re-appear in anti-American literature in Guatemala, in Pakistan, in the Philippines, in China, in India, in every country where racism is an insult and a humiliation.

I quote from the Wah Kiu Yat Po, a Chinese newspaper published in Hongkong: "The strong desire for independence and freedom of the Southeast Asian people cannot be fulfilled unless the Western nations are ready to bring to an end their colonial rule. The people there may not like Communism but they definitely hate to be ruled by others. That is why they prefer Communism to colonialism."

THIS IS altogether too true, and it has become the strongest weapon of Soviet Russia in many countries, most dangerously in Central and South America. Our people do not realize, for instance that Guatemala, not far from the Panama Canal, is pretty well dominated by Communists. We get little data on the Communist troubles in Panama.

It is too easy to blame all the troubles on Russian propaganda. But propaganda never takes effect unless it falls on fertile soil. There must be a readiness for it, especially in Central and South American countries, and in Asia and Africa, and wherever people refuse to recognize that they are inferior to any other people because of their birth and origin.

It is a very tough problem for a country like ours where race and color do arouse emotional responses in a large number of citizens. Our complications arise from the adoption of a foreign policy that requires associations with people who resent the "white" peoples of the Western European-American alliance.

THIS PROBLEM would not have faced us had we not become involved in the affairs of all the world, but we have become so involved, and we are seeking allies everywhere, even allies among the people whom we reject because of their race when they come to live among us.

This country has just experienced the humiliation of having been rejected by Mexico. That happens to be more important realistically than what happened in Suez.

I am diagnosing a case, not offering a cure, because I have none. We speak about psychological warfare, about the Voice of America influencing peoples, of reaching the nations behind the iron curtain.

But none of that will really mean anything unless the peoples of the countries that we want as allies sincerely believe that we do not have contempt for them because of race. Did you ever hear a Kashmirian talk about his true Aryan origin in tones that are more like a leer than a sneer.

How do you make an ally out of a nation that feels the contempt you really have for it? That was the fertile soil that Soviet Russia found in China. It was not landlordism; it was not the corruption of the Kuomintang; it was not even communism. It was an anti-"white" man attitude. It existed in that country before the Boxer Rebellion (1901), which was an outbreak against the "white" man. It existed in a large number of anti-American and anti-British boycott movements. It was expressed in the May 30th movement in 1925 when the revolution, not yet completed, was started as an opposition to all Europeans. The Russians moved into a soil prepared for them.

Few men concern themselves about the inconsistencies between what they believe and what they do. Most Americans believe that all men are created equal, as it says in the Declaration of Independence, but they cannot apply it to human beings whom they naturally dislike. And there is the rub in a situation that may, in Asia, in Africa, and in Central and South America some day cost the lives of our sons.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Questions For The Doctor

VARIETY questions are answered by doctor. They are: Q—Through medical tests such as a bronchoscopy, I have been told I have bronchiectasis. Please advise if there is a cure for same?

A—Bronchiectasis is the result of a long-continued chronic cough, usually resulting from infection in the sinuses or the breathing passageways.

If the case is not too severe, good results are often obtained by conquering the infection responsible by administering penicillin or some similar substance, or otherwise treating the basic cause.

If the bronchiectasis is advanced, lung surgery offers the best hope of satisfactory results.

Q—I have been told I was perfectly healthy except the womb is slightly tipped. Could such a condition prevent conception?

A—It could. Q—I would like to know whether drinking a bottle of a cola drink every day would cause an acid condition?

A—There would be millions of us with an acid condition if this were true. There is no reason to believe that it is.

Q—What danger might there be, if any, from a fairly solid lump about egg-size, on the upper arm, where an injection had been made?

A—There is almost certainly no danger. In all probability, the injection set up a tissue reaction or irritation which resulted in a certain amount of scar or fibrous tissue, which is responsible for the present lump.

Q—What are the symptoms when a person has a non-toxic goiter?

A—The usual symptom is enlargement of the thyroid gland, near the base of the neck, in front. The symptoms of toxicity such as nervousness, rapid pulse, and high basal metabolic rate, are absent. Occasionally, the gland is enlarged below the neck so that it cannot be readily seen or felt.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

SAM RAYBURN put the ban on televising House committee hearings just as we were looking forward to that new program, "Famous Tax Collectors' Trials."

It was to have been a sequel to the "Deep Freeze Hour" and the highly successful "Mink Marathon."

Sam said he looked in the House Rules and there was nothing in them about television, therefore he banned televising committee hearings. . . . Wait 'til he discovers that there is no mention of fountain pens in the Constitution or of the telephone in the Bill of Rights.

That should keep these fellows from writing, phoning or sending coaxial pictures of their work.

I don't know who it was who said originally "the American people are the best informed people in the world," but he'd better check with Sam. . . . There's a revision coming up.

There was one story that housewives complained they couldn't get their work done when committee hearings were on TV and one Washington man is supposed to have complained that he couldn't possibly get his next election done.

Samia

By HAL BOYLE

Happy With "Moillionheir"

NEW YORK

THE ROMANCE between one of Egypt's leading moving queens and Abdullah, her young Texas "moillionheir," is working out better than Mark Antony's courtship of Cleopatra.

"We've been very happy," said Sheppard King who took an Arabic name and embraced the Mohammedan faith in order to marry Samia Gamal.

He is the "moillionheir," which is a Broadway term for anyone from the Lone Star state who is likely to inherit oil money.

The young couple interrupted their Dallas honeymoon so Samia could fill a two-week night club dancing engagement here.

EXCHANGING fond looks, they talked excitedly of their future together as they sat at the Astor Bar. Many stared at red-haired Samia, who is pretty as an almond bloom. But none gave more than a passing glance to Abdullah King, who looks like any other tall, healthy young Texas Moslem.

The couple stayed with Abdullah's grandmother in Dallas but didn't visit Houston, where his mother lives.

"There are no hard feelings in the family now about our marriage," said King. "But we don't have any plans at present to go to Houston."

Samia said she liked Texas very much, but that it hadn't surprised her.

"I know it won't be like you see in cowboy shows," she said. "But everything else about America is like I see in movies in Cairo."

Samia, who learned her English in Egypt night clubs, has picked up a slight Texas accent. She is bothered by the fact she has been described as a "belly dancer."

"I DOAN do belly dance," she drawled. "The belly dance start with the Pharaohs and the desert people, the Bedouins. I do the exotic Oriental dance—it is Turkish."

But she said that back home along the Nile she was known more as an actress than a dancer, and that she had appeared in 38 Egyptian-made movies, starring in 37 of them.

"The plots are just like in Hollywood—boy meets the girl. But in Cairo the people always like happy ending. Always couple get married at the end."

She hopes to resume her film career here and says she has already turned down a picture role in Germany.

"I wan' to work seven years more in America," she said, "and then stay at home and have the children—if I am not too very old. I am 27 now."

"And he"—she pointed to her husband—"is going to write the book about our life. Then we make the film—if he ever do write the book."

"Shall I give it a happy ending?" joked King.

"Yes, make it the happy ending—then we can sell picture in Cairo, too."

SAMIA'S PET name for King is "Fellah," which means "peasant," according to the dictionary and "country boy" according to King. Samia's description of America: "There is no something better." She said the thing that most impressed her about the United States was Uncle Sam.

"I really, like this Uncle Sam because he really do the good business," she said. "Already he have me keep mos' my money for him. He do all right."

Samia said her favorite hobby was teasing her husband but that whenever she said anything nice to him he wanted to know what was the matter—didn't she love him any more?

King gave a bridegroom's grin. "When she gets mad," he said, "she claps her hands and calls me 'Abdullah Nobody.'" (AP Newfeatures)

Mrs. Clyde Matheny Speaks At Day Of Prayer Service

IN WORDS of challenge to Christians "to put into action the things they say they believe" Mrs. Clyde Matheny, state president of the United Council of Church Women, spoke under the theme, "Christ Our Hope," at the Friday afternoon session of World Day of Prayer in the Baptist Church.

The church was filled to hear Mrs. Matheny who declared that in her travels in the United States she finds people with callousness and complacency toward war that indicates that America has lost the Christian pattern.

Mrs. Matheny followed up her challenge to Christians by asking that fear be conquered; awareness of military training be developed and recognition be given to the brotherhood of man. She concluded by saying that Christ really is our hope in a dark age.

Mrs. J. A. Fehr was in charge of the afternoon meeting and Mrs. Robert Hammell was organist for the singing by a choir comprised of two members of choirs of several churches.

Mrs. Elwood Hammell Jr. sang "The 23rd Psalm." Mrs. Frank Brudery, president of the Salem District Council of Church Women, presided at the meeting and introduced Mrs. Matheny.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Plaids, as seen in the cottons coming through for cruise wear, are fashion news. It's not just because they're plaids since plaids are all ways with us in some form. It's because they've taken on a new sophistication.

These plaids for resort wear are bold and handsome. The present new and striking color combinations, as when beige, black and white are used together. This is plaid that's fresh and sparkling, free from hackneyed ideas about what plaid should be.

Dark plaids look new, too, particularly when they're overlaid with touches of clean white in lapels or cuffs. Deep purple is a ready foil for white and so are the browns and dark blues.

A bold plaid (right) is done in the new black, beige and white combination. This is a simple shirt-waist dress with full skirt, shirred sleeves and bow-tied neckline. The design makes the most of the plaid, which is in a Dan River cotton. It will, its makers claim, shed wrinkles and remain permanently porous.

A second plaid with these same qualities (left) is cut into a sleeveless dress with matching bolero. Both are in a deep purple. The dress has wide lapels of white pique and a full, graceful skirt that hides roomy side pockets. The white touch appears again in the jacket cuffs.

Playoff Games Slated For Class A League Monday Night

Amvets, Mullins And Demings, Moffett-Hone Play Off Ties

The Salem Amvets and the Mullins Manufacturers will square off in a title playoff Monday evening to decide the winner of the regular season before the league opens the annual playoffs of the Class A League.

Demings and Moffett-Hone ended the season in a tie for fourth place while the Sanitary held third position.

The Amvets, winners of the first round of play as they were undefeated, topped Mullins last Monday night, 68-66, in an overtime game and forced the playoff between the two teams.

Both outfits ended the regular season with 14-2 records, Mullins, losing twice to the Amvets and the vets dropping games to Moffett-Hone and Demings.

Moffett-Hone forced the fourth place playoff when they licked Demings last week, 46-41. Had Demings won the game they still would have been in a tie with the Sanitary.

The first game of the evening Monday will pit the Reserves against the Sears outfit in a postponed game. Following this tilt the Democratic Club and Conways will open the playoffs with the Republicans Club and Sears tangling afterwards for the championship of the Girls League.

The Amvet-Mullins game will get underway at 8:30 and the Deming and Moffett-Hone tilt will start at 9:30.

GORDON SCOTT, playing for the Gordon Leather squad who finished seventh in the loop, led Class A scorers with a total of 224 points for the season. The Amvets' John Pridon and Dick Wyss of Demings follow closely with 197 and 195 points, respectively.

Class B League play is not complete yet but will end during the next week. Owens is the leader of the loop, being unbeaten in 15 games while Mellingers are holding second spot with 12 victories and three losses.

Tebbetts Claims Arizona Weather Better For Training Of Cleveland Than Florida

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Catcher Birdie Tebbetts has a theory Arizona is better than Florida for getting pitchers into condition.

The squeaky-voiced veteran trained in Florida from 1936 until last season when he came here with Cleveland. He says the Indians haven't had a sore-armed pitcher since they've been training here, and explains:

"That's because they've been able to get their legs in shape. And when a pitcher's legs are in shape, he won't get a sore arm."

"You can't run around in Florida like you can here. The ground in Florida is too soft. It's sandy, while here the ground is hard, but not too hard. You can run all day here and it won't make you as tired as in Florida."

TEBBETTS ADMITS it's hard to sweat off weight here.

"You've got to be in shape when you come here, or you never will be able to sweat off the weight. You can take off weight much easier in Florida because you can sweat there. Out here it's too dry."

The weight problem is a very personal one for Birdie. Counting on getting the job as manager of the Indianapolis Club this spring, Birdie wasn't too careful about his waist line and has about 20 excess pounds to work on.

BOB LEMON, who trained with the Tribe in Clearwater, Fla., in 1946, agrees with Tebbetts, especially about how important it is for a hurler to get his legs in shape.

Two other members of the big four won't go along. Bob Feller thinks pitchers cool off so quickly here they might hurt their arms. Early Wynn, a resident of Florida and a big fellow who has to watch his weight, doesn't like Arizona climate because "it's too hard to get up a good sweat."

The Tribe's pitchers will try something new today. Instead of one pitcher staying in during batting practice, the hurlers will try to force every other batter over a period of about a half hour. "It's more like pitching in a game," said Manager Al Lopez who got the idea from Luke Sewell, manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

PROMOTER DIES

COLUMBUS (AP)—Jacob L. Hart, 85, former boxing manager and fight promoter in Columbus died here yesterday. In his youth he had fought in many bare-knisted bouts, which were then illegal. He promoted bouts at the old Columbus Auditorium for about 15 years before World War I.

Bolt, Burke Lead Baton Rouge Open.

BATON ROUGE, Pa. (AP)—Two Texans who want to shoot it out might get the chance in the $10,000 Baton Rouge Open golf tournament.

The Texas terrors, Tommy Bolt and Jack Burke Jr., both of Houston, are high-riding leaders as the tournament moves into third round play today over the Baton Rouge Country Club course.

Bolt, who plays under the colors of Oklahoma, holds a one-stroke lead with a 68-69-137. Burke is second with a 68-70-138.

Their nearest rivals are seven strokes behind, a Texas mile so to speak, and Bolt admits that "it looks like it's between Jack and me."

"There's no guy I'd rather see win," said Bolt about Burke. "But there's no guy I'd rather beat."

Yanks' Mickey Mantle Expects Better Year With Pressure Off

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Mickey Mantle, who fell far short of his big buildup of 1951, believes he will do much better this year because "the pressure won't be on me now."

The quiet youngster from the lead and zinc mine country around Commerce, Okla., is happy that he is "just another name" on the roster and thinks that will help him in his efforts to win a regular berth on the New York Yankees.

Mantle does not mind telling you that he was a bewildered, frightened and worried 19-year-old lad last April when he found himself in the opening day lineup, playing alongside of the great Joe DiMaggio, after only two years of professional experience in the low minors. He admits that he was "doggone scared" of the American League pitchers he had never seen but read so much about.

"I don't think I'll be scared anymore," he smiled. "Not that I think I know all about the pitchers. Far from it. It is just that I believe I have been through the mill. A year's experience up here means so much."

"Another thing," he added. "I know now that I can't be what the writers made me out to be last spring. After that terrific buildup last year, I felt I had to get on base every time I came to bat. I became over-anxious, began to press and soon found myself swinging at a lot of bad pitches. As a result, I piled up a frightful number of strikeouts."

MANTLE STRUCK OUT at such a furious pace that Manager Casey Stengel was obliged to ship him to Kansas City. His confidence had dipped to a low ebb. Mickey got off to a slow start at KC, getting only one hit in his first 16 times at bat. He finished strong, however, swatting a robust .361 in 40 games and was recalled by the Yanks. He wound up hitting .267 with the Yankees but fanned 74 times in 96 games. However, he drove in 65 runs with 13 homers.

Mantle was reminded that he was being groomed as the successor to Joe DiMaggio in center-field and didn't he think there would be pressure applied on that score?

"Who said I was DiMaggio's successor?" Mantle wanted to know. "I don't consider myself that. How can anyone think that when I haven't proved yet I can play here regularly? I'm just out to win a regular job. I don't even know if I can make it, although I'm going to try my best."

What about his right knee, the one he injured in the second game of the 1951 World Series?

"It is getting stronger all the time," Mantle answered. "I don't think it will bother me much."

With The Camps...

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics today awaited the first fielding drill of the training season after a week of practice limited to pitchers and catchers.

Connie Mack arrived in camp yesterday and the sight of an infielder named Kell probably stirred fond memories for the A's president. The infielder is Everett (Skeeter) Kell, brother of George Kell of the Detroit Tigers who broke in with the A's in 1943.

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Shortstop Gran Hammer has signed a 1952 contract to trim the number of Philadelphia Phillies holdouts to three—Third Baseman Willie Jones, Relief Hurler Jim Konstantly and Infielder Connie Ryan.

BRANDENTOWN, Fla. (AP)—Veteran Catcher Walker Cooper of the Boston Braves was regarded today as a definite "hold-out" along with Third Baseman Bob Elliott.

General Manager John Quinn talked by telephone Thursday night with Cooper who is at his home in Buckner, Mo. The Tribe official's only comment was that there was "nothing to report."

SAN BERNARDINO, CALIF. (AP)—There is some doubt whether Pirate Pitcher Murray Dickson will be in uniform when the regular training season opens Monday. Dickson was tabbed a holdout last night by General Manager Branch Rickey who said the club has made its final offer to the little righthander. Dickson, who was paid a reported $22,500 last year, is trying to get in the $30,000 class. He won 20 and lost 16 for the seventh place Bucs in 1951.

ANSWER THE CALL—OF THE 1952 RED CROSS DRIVE—

This year's Red Cross fund campaign has a goal of $85,000,000 to carry on its greatly extended services to the armed forces, its vital blood program, its disaster services and other activities. When you "answer the call" by giving to the Red Cross YOU are there when disaster strikes and YOU aid the victims. When a wounded soldier, a mother in childbirth or an injured workman needs blood, YOU are there to give it. YOU are there to help servicemen's families faced with anxieties, to bring hope and comfort to bedridden war veterans. Answer the call—and BE where help is needed by giving to the Red Cross.

LAST YEAR Red Cross spent $13 million in Kansas-Missouri floods, fourth costliest domestic relief operation in Red Cross history.

FROM AUGUST, 1950, to October, 1951, the National Blood Program provided 125,000 pints of blood for Korea. Red Cross takes care of servicemen in many ways, such as writing letters for wounded.

IN 1951, Red Cross trained 5995 people as nurse's aides to offset the growing shortage of nurses. Youngsters at right are among 19,000,000 in 89,000 schools enrolled in the Junior Red Cross.

LAST YEAR, Junior Red Cross youngsters sent needy children abroad 280,000 gift boxes valued at $560,000.

pro-British feelings and was a close friend of the King's.

His Reasons Pondered

His resignation followed earlier reports today he had asked—and gotten—permission from King Farouk to suspend for a month the Parliament, which still was ruled by a strong Wafdist majority.

There were some reports the King wanted to use his constitutional right to dissolve the Parliament outright, but the Maher asked only for temporary suspension so that he could devote his whole efforts to the impending talks with the British.

(Whether this was the reason for Maher's dispute with the palace could not readily be determined from Cairo dispatches, which undergo heavy Egyptian censorship.)

It was believed here newspaper reports the Maher cabinet had asked for suspension of the Parliament had in some way led to Maher's resignation.

Observers said Maher Pasha's resignation is not expected to interfere seriously with the coming Anglo-Egyptian negotiations. Diplomatic circles said any new government named by the palace probably would carry on the talks or the same strong nationalist basis.

When the British embassy announced early this morning the much-heralded talks would have to be postponed, some political informants said the British may have been influenced to make such a move because they had inside information Maher was on the way out. But the embassy denied this and said only that Stevenson was ill.

The man most mentioned to take Maher's place, 60-year-old Hilaly Pasha, is one of Egypt's top jurists with a reputation for honesty. For a number of years, he has been an active nationalist leader.

Slow, Steady Food Price Drop Noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reports a slow but steady decline in food prices and cautiously offers the hope they may stay down for a while.

The possibility also was voiced that the next living cost index, due late in March, will show a drop for the first time in months.

But Ewan Clague, commissioner of statistics in the Labor Department, said in expressing such hopes he saw "no signs of any real downward trend" in prices.

"My opinion is that retail prices won't go very far in either direction during the next few months," he said.

Clague told a news conference food prices dropped 2.1 per cent between mid-January and mid-February. They fell 0.9 per cent in the last half of January and an additional 1.2 per cent between Jan. 28 and Feb. 15.

The Agriculture Department reported farm product prices dropped nearly 4 per cent during the same period.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics showed wholesale prices fell 0.1 per cent during the week ended Feb. 26. This is 1.3 per cent below a month ago and 2.9 per cent below January, 1951.
